INAUGURAL RESPONSE

of

RAYMOND A. KENT

President, University of Louisville

Mr. Jouett, Members of the Board of Trustees, Mr. Mayor, Members of the Faculty of the University, and Citizens of Louisville:

BELIEVING that youth holds the key to the future; that public higher education may determine the main purposes for which youth shall strive; believing also that the municipal university represents a natural and high development of the American system of public education, I accept the position and responsibilities attached to the Presidency of the University of Louisville. The obligations assumed are not light; neither will the proper discharge of the responsibilities be an easy task. But relying upon the cooperation of a Board intelligent as to the purposes of this University, of a Faculty grateful for its duties, of a citizenry which wishes for its youth the best that it can possibly provide, and invoking the assistance of our Father of all, I pledge to the University of Louisville my undivided allegiance and service.

This occasion is fertile in suggestiveness. The history of this University, now in its 93rd year, furnishes a colorful background resplendent in educational materials. This history is not of fleeting importance. It has contributed so significantly that it should, before the passage of many more years, be made a matter of permanent record. But although the past is not our chief concern at this moment, it is only proper that we should pause to pay fitting tribute to those whose deeds have made possible the privileges which we now, through their labors, enjoy. The heritage which they have left in this University is indeed large. It is laden with large possibilities for the future. Let us accept that inheritance with due recognition and gratitude, and address our earnest endeavor to the problems that now confront us, keeping ever in mind the ideals and purposes for which this institution was founded and for which its loyal servants have given their efforts.

Education for Negroes

It is entirely proper that mention be made on this occasion of a project of which the future must take cognizance. I refer to the educational facilities of the negro portion of our population, which may be provided under the direction of the Trustees of the University. The records of the Board of Trustees of this University show clearly that an obligation in this direction has been officially assumed. At no time, as far as I am aware, has there been any disposition on the part of this governing body to do other than to give full recognition to the commitment already made. Following the successful vote on the million dollar bond issue for the University, the Board set aside $100,000 out of the proceeds of that issue to further the project of the higher education of negroes in Louisville. The plan as originally made could not be carried through. In the meanwhile the principal sum of $100,000 has been specifically set aside and has been kept inviolate, and with accrued interest now amounts to $106,000.

In its deliberations many months ago, the Board sought the counsel of a thoroughly competent adviser on this project, and Mr. Leo M. Favrot of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, made a personal visit to Louisville. Mr. Favrot in his work with the Rockefeller Foundation has familiarized himself with the problems of negro education and rendered similar service to other institutions.

With the realization that the time has come for working out definite plans, Mr. Favrot has been invited to return to this city and advise upon what steps should be taken now and what should be the nature of the program for the future. He has promised to visit us within the next few weeks.

Anticipating this visit, no plans have been drawn up for spending the $106,000. That definite action will be taken is a foregone conclusion. Without question such action will take into account the entire negro population of the city without reference to creed or faith. But whatever is done should be the result of careful deliberation and consultation. It should be based upon all the pertinent evidence available, and only after such evidence has been passed upon by a competent judge, or judges. Such procedure will not cause delay. In the end it will hasten rather than postpone the proper outcome. No undertaking of such importance should ever be launched by the University without an intelligent anticipation further ahead than the next immediate step. I do not hesitate to say that faith cannot be kept on the basis of the promises already made by the University unless whatever is done shall be built upon a foundation that will last.

Community Service

This is a municipal university. Its financial support, aside from tuition fees of non-resident students, income from taxes levied on the assessable property within the municipality of Louisville. The situation is almost parallel with that of our city high schools. The responsibility of this institution, therefore, is primarily to the citizens of the city. As far as the University can serve the educational, social and civic welfare of the citizens of the municipality along lines not already served, it should do so, the limits of such service being only those imposed by wise administration and physical resources.

This statement is not the enunciation of a new principle for this institution. A brief review of some of the special service rendered the community through the several schools of your University will illustrate this point.

The College of Liberal Arts, in addition to its activities in formal instruction, has furnished individuals to assist in conducting advertising campaigns and surveys, has provided instruction to the local branch of the American Institute of Banking, has given expert advice on pictures, given lectures on current events at the Young Men's Christian Association, rendered assistance in editing a History Quarterly, has aided community music, and through its department of chemistry has provided analyses and consulting services.

The School of Law through its students has given to the Legal Aid Society within the past two years, approximately fifteen men who have devoted a portion of their time to this work. The assistance consisted of both advice and the litigation of cases. The total number of cases involved is estimated at two thousand.

The Speed Scientific School, since its opening slightly more than four years ago, has conducted over eight hundred individual tests of materials of all sorts for individuals of Louisville. In addition, professional advice has been given freely by the members of its faculty. Theses required from members of the senior class of this school are based upon problems, found in industries and utilities of the city, desiring these particular researches to be made. The findings of these investigations are turned over without charge to these organizations. Furthermore, in this school, the first step toward municipal research is now going on in the Hydraulic Laboratory. Here problems not hitherto attempted are being studied by the engineers of the Commission of Sewerage.

The Medical School of our University renders service through its affiliation with the Louisville City Hospital, and through working arrangements with other agencies within the city. Last year the total number of visits by the various dispensaries of the city was 57,797. During the same period there were 10,000 ward or bed cases.

Owing to the rapid growth of the city and the inaccessibility of the City Hospital to certain outlying districts, the Medical School has an arrangement with the Health Council of the Community Chest whereby a careful study is made of the need for extramural clinics. As a result of this, a clinic has been conducted at the "Point" (Cable and River Road) during the past two years. Two others are to be opened within a very short time in the new recreation buildings established by the Park Board in Highland Park and in Parkland.

The School of Dentistry last year gave service which would have cost $57,340 if rendered through ordinary channels. The actual cost was $17,129. Included were free dental service to 1,080 school children, service to 7,190 persons through the Dental School Infirmary, to 3,907 cases at the City Hospital, and examination of 7,500 public school children. It is interesting to note that the amount which the annual operation of the School of Dentistry costs above the receipts from its students, is almost exactly the same sum as that which this school expends upon free service within Louisville.

It is our fervent desire that these practices shall be not only continued, but also that the future may see the program expanded. Teaching and research in our University cannot be too well acquainted with our service to all the life of this community. We believe that the future success of this University will depend in no small measure upon its ability to make abstract the educational needs of the youth and adults of this city, and to draw up and make effective, articulate programs to meet those needs. Public education can no longer rightfully think of itself as limited to children and youth or to non-employed. It should include as an integral part education for workers. Education for adults has become of vital importance. I heartily endorse the idea put forth by Superintendent Gregory this afternoon that there should be one instead of two public educational programs for the city, and that the city school system and the city University "can wisely work together in the construction of a program of education that shall be city wide," that eventually will recognize no academic boundaries of subjcet matter, and will serve people of all age levels.

The current conception of a University seems to be less comprehensive in some fundamental respects than what it was in the minds of some American leaders considerably more than a century ago. Specifically it falls short of that suggested by Thomas Jefferson in a letter written by him to Joseph Priestly in January, 1800. He said, "We wish to establish for the state, a university so broad and liberal and modern as to be a temptation to you . . . the first step is . . . a judicious selection of the sources . . . in an institution meant chiefly for use."*. . . it includes the sciences, politics, commerce, arts, and fine arts.

Instruction Primary Function

We do not believe that the view we have expressed is in any sense a miscarriage of the basic reason why this institution was first chartered. That purpose was primarily to provide instruction.

This is a fact so important that it should never be lost sight of. Buildings, libraries, laboratories, teachers, and boards of trustees are necessary. But necessary for what? Memberships on boards or positions on faculties should be neither created nor continued to provide positions for occupants. Buildings, including laboratories and libraries, are not erected to provide employment or even to beautify the landscape. All of these factors are for the purpose of making instruction possible, and for the purpose of improving it. Even academic research, which by some is considered to be the highest type of intellectual activity, can scarcely justify itself in a publicly supported university, unless it contributes significantly to the same goals as instruction. If instruction then, is the most important activity of our University, it is of first importance that we note some of the factors that determine its qualities.

The institution's representative in this activity is the teacher; the activity from the standpoint of the institution is teaching. Today, American higher education is experiencing the heretofore unknown exhilaration of a critical attitude directed toward the quality of its teaching. It is one which for years has been operative on educational level below the college and it now strikes higher education with all the added impetus derived from success in other fields.

One can safely make three assertions concerning this movement. The first is that it is clearly upon us. The second is that it is here to stay for an indefinite time. The third is that it is thoroughly sound in principle. With these considerations in mind, it would seem that from now on academic tenure, important as it is, will be compelled to share its field with the quality of the teaching performance. This is a statement based upon a rapidly accumulating body of evidence which time does not permit us to detail here.

It is scarcely necessary in light of what has been said, to call attention to the great importance of securing properly qualified persons for the faculty. In general, we get what we pay for, although it must be said that many serve the teaching profession at a distinct personal sacrifice because they prefer the life of this profession to that of any other occupation. As the years go by, the University of Louisville will undoubtedly find it necessary to pay its faculty members amounts in excess of what they are now receiving.

The emphasis here laid upon the importance of proper instruction, finds strong argument in certain contemporary conditions abroad.

German universities have recently had a vision. Previous to the war the diligence of their exacting research had become so narrow that it blinded perspective, and dried up the streams of student enthusiasm. But a new day is dawning, there is a new spirit, and understanding is coming between instructors and students. Soon we may expect the German universites to be what they were in the beginning and in the middle of the last century—centers and crowning achievements of German civilization.*

University and Community Idealism

In the address which he gave last evening, President McVey defined the functions of a University to be: 1. Teaching, 2. Research, 3. Publication. I heartily endorse this statement. In doing so I trust that no injustice will be done in laying stress upon the spiritual leadership which an institution of higher education owes to its constituency.

It is necessary that such an institution have material support. To receive an adequate amount of such support it must make an appeal which will bring the proper response. Community service of the kind pointed out earlier will help greatly to this end. But after all, these are only means to an end—an end far more important than anything material or merely educational.

Permission has graciously been granted me to quote from a letter written by one in whom Louisville takes just pride—from a letter written by Mr. Justice Brandeis to his late brother Alfred. "Money alone cannot build a worthy university. To become great a university must express the people whom it serves, and must express the people and the community at their best. The aim must be high and the vision broad; the goal seemingly attainable, but beyond the immediate reach."*

*Extract from a letter written by Mr. Justice Brandeis to his brother, Mr. Alfred, under date of February 18, 1925

This cogently expresses what I have tried to say. It also suggests what I personally believe, that the kind of a university that we should have will not come by imposition from without. It must grow from within out. It must as the Justice says, "express the people and the community."

Mr. John Dewey says of Theodore Roosevelt that he was America's "living embodiment rather than its representative." He was the gauge of the aspirations of the people of his own day. In him "the people recognized and greeted the collective composition of their own voices."*

*See John Dewey—Characters and Events, p. 87.

Only by the operation of a similar principle can a great public institution be made. Only by appealing to the best in ambition and in spiritual desire will this university reach its goal. It can be no better than you, its patrons, wish it to be. But all that you hope for your sons and your daughters, the best that you think the future can bring to your community, all this your university can and will be if you really desire it for yourselves and your posterity. To your noblest vision of what it should become, I here pledge my undivided service.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

FOOTBALL this season left Coach Tom King and Assistant Coach Ray Baer with very few regrets. While the season in its entirety was not all that the coaches might have hoped for, at least the last three games left a pleasant memory and very good prospects for the coming year.

This year, the coaches called their charges to the conditioning field earlier than usual in order to prepare them for the contest with the University of Cincinnati, which was scheduled for October 11th. The game was carded at this early date as a special feature of the American Legion Convention which was gripping the city at that time. As an expression of their appreciation, the Legionnaires turned out for the game in large numbers.

University of Cincinnati—The afternoon on which the Cardinals met this team was probably more suited for a swimming meet than a football game; but at 2:15, two large squads of football players in heavy armor scampered on to the field and warmed up. At two thirty, the referee's whistle started the embroglio.

The first quarter ended with neither team having the advantage; but early in the second stanza, Cincinnati's big gray team took advantage of a break to score a touchdown that gave them a 7 to 0 lead.

From this point until the final whistle marked the end of the contest (of which Cincinnati was delcared the winner) there was nothing outstanding.

Translyvania—The Transylvania game was another very closely-contested and hard-fought game, with the Pioneers taking advantage of two Cardinal misplays to score the touchdown and field goal that gave them their 9 to 0 victory.

Western Normal—The first half of the Western game was very gratifying to the Cardinal crowd The fine defensive work of both lines was the feature of this contest, with the sable-clad warriors from U. of L. having the advantage during the first half. However, the Hilltoppers came back with a bang in the second half to push over two touchdowns, and win by the score of 13 to 0. The Cards made a very creditable showing against a highly touted team.

Marshall College—The conflict with Marshall was much closer than the score would lead one to suppose. The Cardinal backs worked their passing attack to perfection, completing nine passes out of eleven tried. At the middle of the last quarter, the score was Marshall 13, Louisville 6; but at this stage the Big Green unleashed several long passes, and caught our men at their own game. These passes were completed for touchdowns, which with one point after a touchdown, gave Marshall the decision, 23 to 6.

Centre College—The Centre game was the poorest showing made by the Cardinals during the campaign. All athletic contests between the Cardinals and the Colonels are real fights, and this one was no exception; but the Louisville team could not get going, and when the smoke of battle had cleared away, the Colonels returned to their native heath with a 41 to 0 win.

Eastern Normal—In the Eastern game, our men showed their first real offensive punch. The ball carriers found large holes opened by the linemen, and aided by efficient blocking and tackling on the part of the backfield, they romped over the Eastern goal line three times for markers, and kicked one point after touchdown, to bring the score up to 19 points. During this time, the Pedagogues had been able to score only one touchdown for 6 points.

Earlham College—The embroglio against Earlham was the first home game this year in which the home folks saw the Cards score. The features of this game were the excellent defensive work of our linemen, who allowed Earlham only one opportunity to get within scoring distance, and the baffling passing attack unleashed by our backs, which resulted in the only touchdown of the game. Score: Louisville 6, Earlham, 0.

Georgetown College—The season was very fittingly climaxed by the Georgetown game. The Tigers arrived in Louisville with a large team and a very enviable record The chances for the Cardinals even to hold Georgetown to a tie seemed very, very remote. But the old fighting spirit and the desire to beat Georgetown in the last tilt of the year was sufficient to inspire the best football that the team played this year, and the results were extremely gratifying to the throng of victory-hungry spectators.

With the two lines presenting an almost impregnable defense, the ball see-sawed back and forth in the middle of the field, first in the possession of one team, then in that of the other. But at last the black-jersied warriors of U. of L. pulled out their passing attack, and on a final pass from a fake criss-cross play, they score the touchdown that defeated Georgetown by the score of 6 to 0.

HOCKEY TEAM

Although field hockey is comparatively a new sport at the University of Louisville it is increasing in popularity from year to year. The 1929-30 season brought out the largest number of aspirants that have ever competed for positions on the team since its institution in the athletic department. Most of the recruits had received previous training and playing experience on representative school teams throughout the city; and for this reason the future of the sport seems unusually bright.

Under the able coaching of Miss Susette Baldwin the team defeated Nazareth College of Louisville 14-0, and scored victories over both Atherton High School and Louisville Girls High School in several practice games. However, in the one big game of the year against Peabody Institute of Nashville the team lost a closely contested game, played in ankle-deep mud by a 1-0 score. This game marked the end of the brief 1929-30 schedule.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

THE Cardinal basketball team, with a state championship to defend, began their preparations for the current season the first week in December, under the able tutelage of Eddie Weber, Assistant Basketball Coach.

With only four letter men from last year's squad back in uniform, but with several promising players from the Freshmen of last season, Coach King got ready to tackle a very formidable schedule, composed largely of Kentucky S. I. A. A. rivals. There were also some strong teams carded from out of the State, among which were Agoga, Concordia, and Vanderbilt. In two of the three contests with these teams just mentioned, the Cardinals emerged victors. Louisville engaged in nine contests with Kentucky S. I. A. A. teams, and was successful in seven. This percentage gave us a better ranking than any other team in the State, and as a result we were seeded first in the State Tournament and fourth in the S. I. A. A. Tournament at Jackson, Mississippi.

Basketball Scores for the Season were:

Louisville	24	Vanderbilt	22
Louisville	29	Berea	26
Louisville	24	Georgetown	22
Louisville	16	Eastern	26
Louisville	21	Centre	19
Louisville	21	Georgetown	17
Louisville	13	Eastern	12
Louisville	28	Transylvania	16
Louisville	29	Agoga Cadets	21
Louisville	22	Concordia	35
Louisville	14	Transylvania	25
Louisville	26	Centre	19

TRACK 1929

DURING the season of 1929, the Cardinal runners enjoyed one of the most successful seasons ever had by a squad of University of Louisville track men. This success was made possible by the fact that the team possessed probably more spirit than had any other team at the school in several years.

They started the season in an indoor meet at the Armory in which they were able to grab off only one second and two thirds. These points were made by Dick Taylor, who placed second in the seventy-five yard dash, Bill Longacre, who placed third in the same run, and Aubrey Cates who ran third in the mile.

The next meet was the Courier-Journal and Times indoor meet at the Armory, in which the U. of L. men were barely nosed out by the Y. M. C. A. runners. In this meet, Charles Brady set a new Armory record in the High jump. Dick Taylor won the 220 and 440 yard dashes with meet records in both, while Charlie Williams and Aubrey Cates placed second in the 220 and mile respectively.

The Cards opened their outdoor season with a win over Vanderbilt. Here again four men bore the brunt of the scoring. Taylor, Williams, Cates and Brady scoring every point, except the relay points and then the first two named ran third and fourth on the team that won the meet by capturing the relay. Brady jumped six feet three inches to win the high jump. He also won the pole vault. Taylor was again high point man with firsts in the 100 and 220 yard dashes, low hurdles and the broad jump, second in the high hurdles and ran anchor on the relay team. Charlie Williams won the half mile and quarter mile runs and ran on the relay team, while Aubrey Cates played the iron man and won the mile and two mile runs. Bud Laughlin and Ted Kraft were the other two relay men.

Berea was defeated by a big score in the Cardinals next encounter. The scorers were augmented by Bill Litkenhous and Bob La Rue in this meet. Taylor with twenty-one points pulled down scoring honors and Williams and Brady again won their events. Cates won the mile, but was outsprinted in the two mile.

The Southern meet was next, and for the second time in the history of the school the University of Louisville scored in this meet. Charles Brady set a new Southern record in the High jump and placed second in the pole vault. Charles Williams won the half mile in handy fashion to give Louisville its other first. Aubrey Cates completed the points with a second in the mile. Taylor was suffering from a bad cold during this meet.

The following week the Cards lost a heart breaker to Georgetown in the State meet. The margin of difference was one point. Brady set a new State record in the high jump with a leap of six feet and four and one-half inches. This was one of the highest college jumps recorded for the year. He was second in the pole vault. Cates avenged his defeat at Berea and took both the mile and the two mile in good time. Taylor captured the high point trophy with one first and six seconds. His win was in the broad jump, and his places were in the 100, 220, high and low hurdles, and the half and mile relays. Williams won the 440, took second in the half and ran on both relay teams. La Rue was second in both the discus and the shot, while Litkenhous and MacAfee were third in the 100 and the broad jump respectively.

The following men were awarded letters: Williams, Brady, Cates, Taylor, La Rue, Litkenhous, Laughlin, Kraft, MacAfee, and Student Manager Jack Hopkins, whose work throughout the season was extremely commendable. To Hopkins goes much of the credit for the exceptional morale of the squad.

During the fall the Big Four of University of Louisville made its last appearance under the Cardinal and Black when they easily won the Kentucky State Fair meet. Williams was not in shape for the meet, but joined Taylor, Cates and Brady to win the relay. Taylor was high point man of the meet, while Brady, as is his custom, set a new meet record in the high jump.

AT THIS time the Cards have won two meets in two starts, and are facing the year with last year's team intact, except for the loss of Cates and La Rue. Cates was awarded a Rhodes Scholarship and is studying at Oxford, while La Rue is tied down both with a lame shoulder and with the work of a freshman medic. So far no one has been found to replace these two men, but there is still hopes.

In the first meet of the season, the college events connected with the National Interscholastic Relays at the Armory, Brady broke the existing Southern indoor high jump record to win that event, with a jump six feet three and one-half inches. Dick Taylor started off as a major point garnerer, by placing in all four of the college events in the meet. He set a new meet record by running the quarter in fifty-two and one-tenth seconds on the board floor. Dick also got second in the high jump, third in the seventy-five yard dash, and ran the quarter on the winning medley relay team. Williams ran the half mile in the relay and added to the big lead given him by Taylor. Roy Rasmussen and Bill Litkenhous took care of the two sprints in the relay and both show considerable promise.

The following week the Cards avenged the defeat handed them by the Louisville Y. M. C. A. the preceding year by nosing them out in the relay. Brady again won the high jump, while Taylor broke his own record in the quarter. Taylor was also second in the 220 and tied for third in the high jump. He ran anchor on the mile relay and held the lead given him by Williams Charlie was second in the 440. This event was run against time and four of the six heats were won by University men. George Nevitt, a freshman, and Bud Laughlin were the other men to gain glory in the relay.

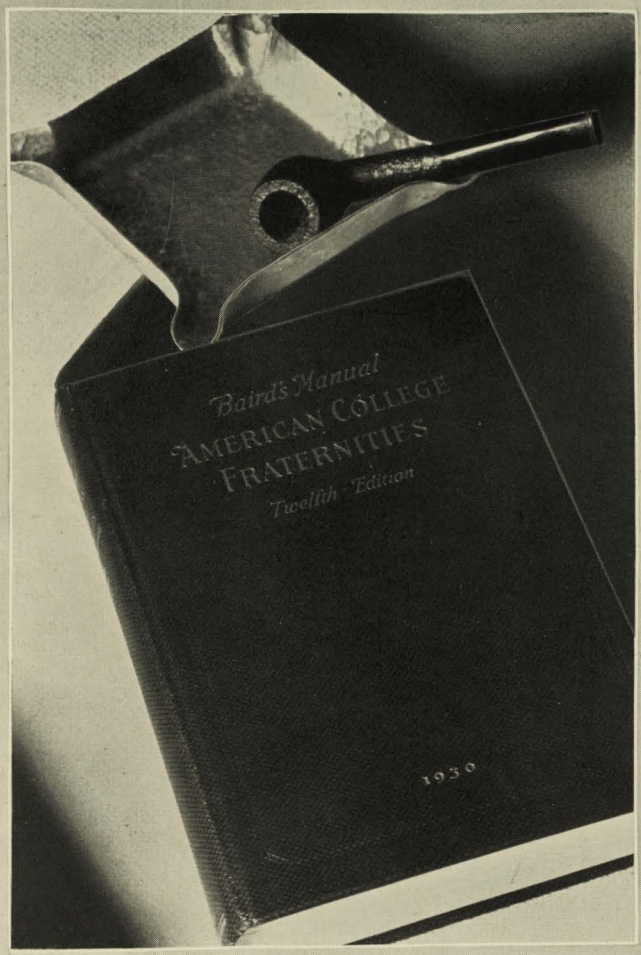

Varsity prospects are bright for a win in the state meet, although much depends on whether Coaches King and Converse can develop some weight men and some distance men. There is also some danger of Taylor not recovering from a tonsil operation in time to get in good shape.

There will be a freshman team after a lapse of a year. The Frosh are especially strong in the dashes and the quarter mile run. In the former they have Carrol Grant, a lad from Boston, John Fenley, who got his training at Culver, and Bill Campbell. Leo Farmer, from Male was outstanding among high school quarter milers last year. He also looks good in the 220, the half mile, and the high hurdles. George Nevitt, from St. Xavier, is a good bet in the quarter, Tommy Leonard, from Frankfort, bids fair to fill his older brothers' shoes in the quarter. His brother, "Mose," was track captain in 1924 and 1925. Grant also runs a fast quarter as well as the low hurdles and broad jump. Jack Kemp, another younger brother, seems to be the most likely candidate for the half and mile runs. His brother "Squire" ran with Mose Leonard. Doc Cosby, from Arkansas is a threat in the dashes and the quarter. Arnold and Davies of the Frosh football team are the weight men, and as yet none has been found for the high jump. Student Manager Luke Kennedy will try out for the pole vault.

Jack Hopkins is again varsity manager, while Luke Kennedy holds down that post for the yearlings.

BASEBALL

NOW we have only reminiscences of a successful season in baseball during the campaign of 1929, for in 1930, with prospects of another Kentucky S. I. A. A. Championship Team, the sport has been crossed off the calendar. However, the memories that we have are very pleasant ones. The last 35 innings of baseball in which the University of Louisville competed, they shut out the opposing team. The teams shut out at the close of the 1929 season were: Transy (last two innings), score, U. of L. 10, Transylvania 2; Eastern (nine innings), score, U. of L. 1, Eastern 0; Centre (nine innings), score, U. of L. 9, Centre 0; University of Kentucky (fifteen innings), score, U. of L. 0, U. of K. 0.

THE UNIVERSITY of Louisville entered the field of intercollegiate debating in 1927. Since that time the debate work has grown to be a student activity along with the other activities of the University.

The Kentucky Intercollegiate Association was organized in 1928. For the two years that it was in existence the University of Louisville won the championship. The colleges abandoned the association this year, and the varsity team has been debating colleges from all parts of the country—schools of such calibre as the University meets in no other intercollegiate activities.

During the four years that intercollegiate debating has been on the campus, the varsity team has encountered the following colleges and universities:

Western State Teachers' College, Transylvania College

1928

Transylvania College, Kentucky Wesleyan College, Centre College, Georgetown College

1929

Transylvania College, Georgetown College, Kentucky Wesleyan College, Western State Teachers' College, Centre College, Berea College

1930

UNIVERSITY ORCHESTRA

E. J. WOTAWA ..... Conductor
VIRGINIA RICHARDS ..... President

PAUL SWAIN ..... Librarian
JOHN ZURFLUH ..... Business Manager

The University Orchestra was organized in the school year of 1928-29 when Mr. Wotawa was engaged on a part-time schedule for the purpose of awakening an interest in music at the University. The success with which this beginning met, resulted in the addition of a regular department of music to the College of Liberal Arts and Mr. Wotawa is now devoting his entire time to the promotion of musical activity in the University. The orchestra has taken a prominent part in all public functions, notably among which, may be mentioned Commencement, Inauguration of President Kent, student assemblies and in connection with the University Players. The present membership numbers forty-seven players, well distributed to make a balanced whole. It will not be long before the University may boast of a complete symphony orchestra.

The Band, like the Orchestra, is a young organization. But its youth is only measured by the brief time since its organization, for the members are experienced players and its performance rivals many older and larger organizations. It appeared at all of the foot ball games and was featured at the inaugural assembly. All that is needed to make it one of the best college bands in the country, is a set of uniforms and the addition of a few more instruments.

The University Chorus promises to become one of the leading activities on the campus. While scarcely a year old, it has a membership of forty-four, which number will be nearly doubled next year. The chorus is the only medium which permits an opportunity for musical expression for the great majority of students. The growth and success of instrumental groups in our schools has been truly remarkable, and now choral clubs are coming to the front with an interest that will soon place choral music on an equal plane with the great instrumental compositions.

While the University Chorus has not appeared frequently in public this year, it has been busily engaged in preparing for the future. Most of the members are undergraduates and Mr. Wotawa has succeeded in arousing an interest and enthusiasm that assures us of a chorus next year which will rank with the best. Plans have been laid for several home concerts as well as a number of tours. Cantatas and operettas are included in the plans for future activities.

THE "L" CLUB

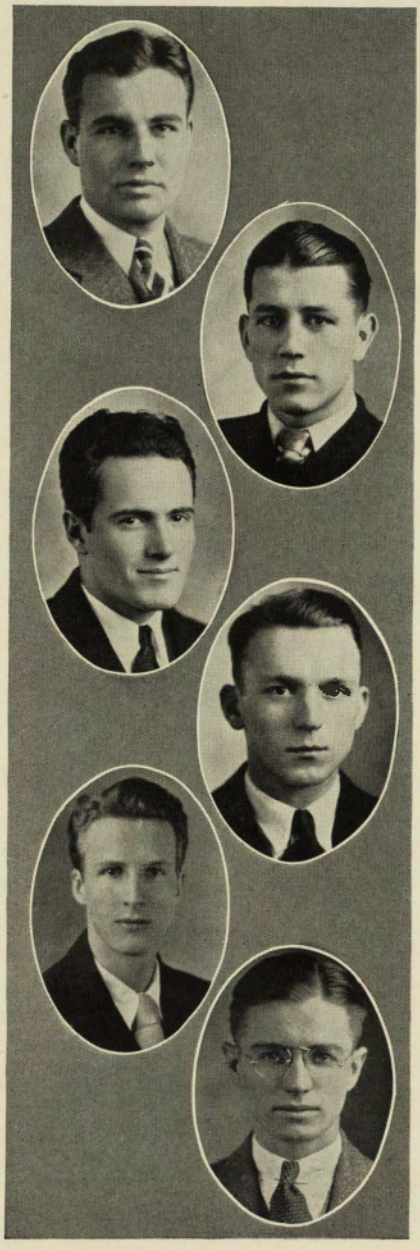

THE "L" Club is the monogram club of the University of Louisville. Every man who has attained a letter in a major sport is privileged to become a member.

We of the "L" Club believe that through a system of intra-mural, or inter-fraternity, athletics, we will be able to build up and foster that elusive thing called "school spirit."

Last year, the first year of the "L" Club's activities in campus life, was one of promise for the future of intra-mural athletics at the University. Sigma Chi Sigma, by winning the Cross-Country Run and the Basketball League and placing in Track and Playground Baseball, captured the Patterson Trophy for the current year. This trophy is presented each year to the winning team to be in their possession for the following year.

So great was the interest taken in intra-mural activities that the school has included an Intra-mural Program in the 1930 Budget. The present season was somewhat curtailed because of inclement weather, which caused the omission of the Cross–Country Run. However, the Basketball was run off very successfully, Theta Nu Epsilon emerging the winner. The Playground Ball League opens at the time of going to press with six teams entered. Track, golf, and tennis will follow.

The "L" Club plans to include among its members all those men who have played on Varsity Teams in the past. By their co-operation, we hope to build up a tradition upon which as a foundation can be built a stronger spirit for the University in the future.

THE UNIVERSITY PLAYERS

By Sarah Fisher

THE 1929-30 season at the Playhouse has brought to pass what seemed impossible. It has surpassed both in pictorial and qualitative character all previous seasons. The group of plays presented ranges through farce and fantasy to deepest tragedy. This wide diversity of plays has called for both practical and imaginative scenery, and this scenery has been designed and executed through the tireless efforts and careful research of enthusiastic and fascinated student workers. Each succeeding play has been accompanied by elaborate and appropriate musical programs, given, under the direction of Professor E. J. Wotawa, by the University of Louisville Orchestra. The sterling quality of plays presented, the skillful interpretation of character, the scenic and sound effects achieved, have gone to make up the most pretentious season ever completed at the Playhouse.

There could have been no more appropriate play to inaugurate their season than George Cameron's farce, "Billy." The swiftly moving comedy portrayed by an enthusiastic cast, promised much for the coming year. Burt Blackwell, playing the title role, and undoubtedly the most difficult part of his career, made an appealing character of the football hero with an elusive set of false teeth. Elizabeth Atkisson, as Billy's sister, was the other half of a team that carried Playhouse audiences. Margaret Hughes, Billy's prospective mother-in-law and a fellow-sufferer, made clever use of her voice to portray the anguish of an overly finical lady minus her "uppers."

The first Alumni presentation of the season was Richard Sheridan's immortal comedy of manners, "The School of Scandal." Elaborate costumes made a pictorial background for the scintillating dialogue of Sheridan's fashionable society. Edmund Bottomley, as Joseph, gave an exceptionally comprehensive interpretation of the despicable character. Ruth Wilson, as Lady Teazle, was charmingly vivacious, and Paul Druien made a handsome and romantic Charles.

The Players returned to Shakespeare for their second presentation. Ed. Goodin, portraying the title role of "Othello", made an attracive figure of the romantic and heroic Moor. Burt Blackwell's subtle interpretation of Iago was realistic enough to win murmurs of condemnation for his villainy from his audience. Maisie Grisanti, as Emilia, reached an unusually impressive climax in her death scene. Kathleen Edinger made a gentle and beautiful Desdemona. Tall, imposing scenery, designed by Jere Shaw, made an effective background for Shakespeare's most majestic tragedy. The height of towering walls revealed by subdued lights reflected the darker passions of those who walked in their shadows.

Sidney Toler's "Her Western Romeo," the third production of the Players' season, brought to the Playhouse several new faces. The plot being a mediocre story of a brave little interior decorator and the financial aid she receives from a newly found childhood sweetheart, the success of the play was due largely to the enthusiastic portrayal of the two leading roles. Leora Lucas, appearing for the first time in a U. of L. production, and E. J. Bamburger, appearing for his first major part, made a charming pair of youthful lovers. Gregory Lilly, as the comic maid, deserves special mention for her bit of character portrayal.

Ida Ehrlich's "Helena's Boys," presented in the second appearance of the Alumni Players, was generally conceded to be the most finished Playhouse production for several seasons. The cast, representing the cream of the organization, was made up of experienced players, each primed for his part in the smooth and finished whole. Special honors went to Anna Mae Byrne as Helena, George Patterson as Henry, the older son, and Beansey, the young precipitator of the intellectual rift between the older and younger generations.

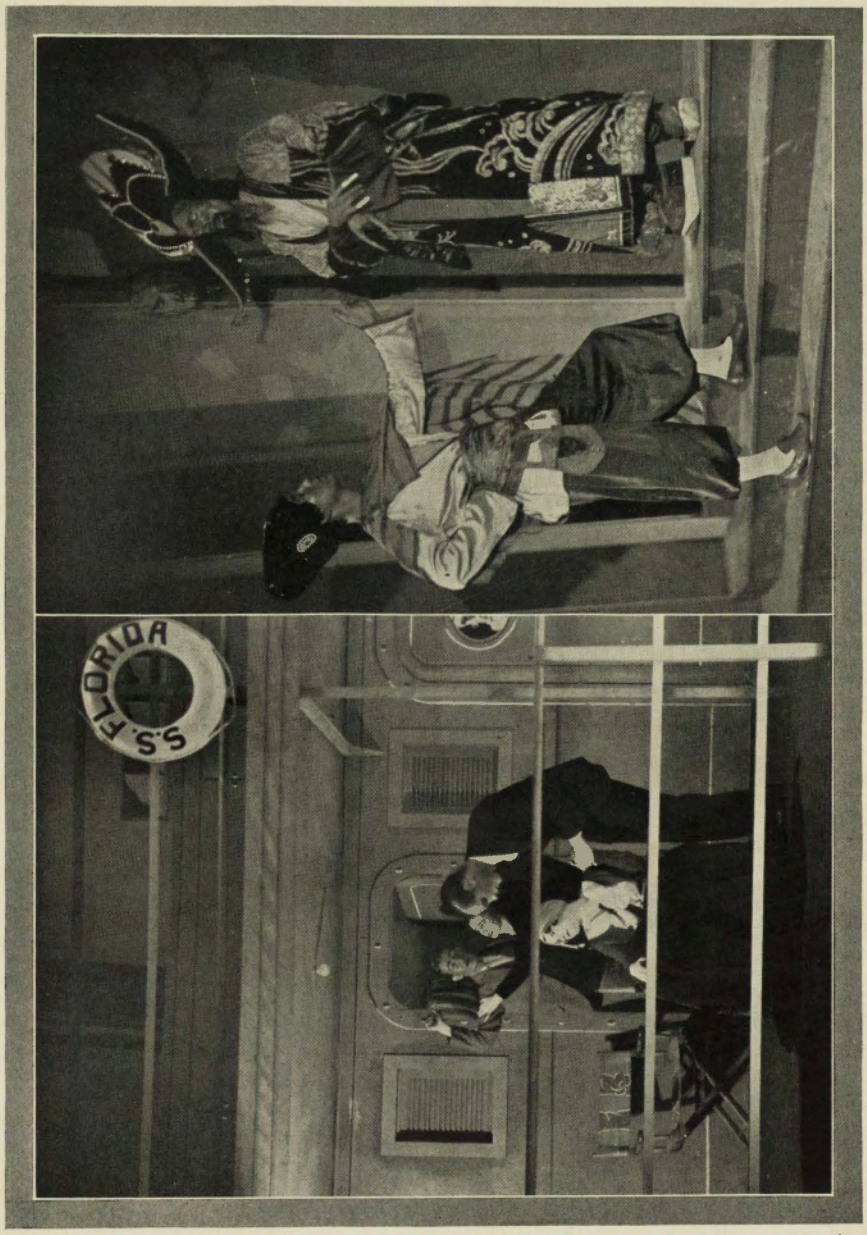

For their annual Spring production, the Players gave Percy MacKaye's Chinese fantasy, "A Thousand Years Ago." Elaborate Oriental sets, designed and executed by Kent Lane, were enhanced by an orange close-in curtain with a sprawling dragon superimposed upon it. The curtain was the work of Mary Luvisi and the dragon was painted by Jere Shaw from an Ernest Stein design. Glenn Bywater's portrayal of Capocomico, the motley emperor "pro-tem," was characterized by a verve and finesse that swept Playhouse audiences at each performance. Catherine Mohler both looked and acted the part of Turandot, Princess of Pekin. Ed. Goodin, as Altoum, Emperor of China, added further laurels to his ability as a portrayer of character. The colorful sets and fantastical costumes, combined with beautiful poetic lines and heroic action, made this production of the Players one to be long remembered.

For their last appearance of the season, the Alumni Players did "The Man With a Load of Mischief," by Ashley Dukes, critic of the New York-London Times. Mr. Duke's comedy of the nineteenth century, laid in a picturesque English inn, offered an attractive vehicle for a cast made up of several of the organization's most experienced members. George Patterson, as the gentleman, Paul Druien, as the manservant, and Elizabeth Atkisson, as the King's mistress who finds real love at the inn, gave beautifully polished performances. Thelma Dolan, Dan Braden and Bonie Magruder Blunk completed the cast of one of the most fascinating plays that has been given in this vicinity.

A glance backward at the sixteenth season of the U. of L. Players and the third season of the Alumni Players is enough to convince Playhouse patron and student audiences that both organizations are under the direction of a man not only of exceptional dramatic instinct and judgment, but with a well-defined sense of what is unusual and worthwhile in the theatre.

The Players closed their season with the presentation of "Perkins," a very attractive English comedy of manners.

We may wish the Players a still more successful season next year, but the past one would seem to make it well nigh impossible.

THE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION of the UNIVERSITY OF LOUISVILLE

WHAT is the Alumni Association?

The Alumni Association is an official organization that serves as efficiently and helpfully as possible, the more than eight thousand graduates and former students of the five schools of the University of Louisville, who are scattered throughout every state of the Union, and many foreign countries. Each school is represented by a Local Council and a Council at Large, composed of alumni who reside in other cities. There are officers and a Board of Directors elected by the members of the Association. A full-time executive secretary is appointed, who has offices at the Alumni Headquarters.

WHY an Alumni Association?

It is the purpose and aim of the Association to promote the spirit of cooperation and interest in its members, to assist in the furtherance of the ideals of the University, to strengthen the ties which bind the alumni to each other, and thus to the University, and to retain the University as a reality in the minds and hearts of those who began their careers under its instruction.

WHERE is the Office of the Alumni Association?

The Office of the Alumni Association is located on the Belknap Campus. The stone archway marks the entrance to Headquarters, and visitors, both alumni and non-members are welcome.

HOW can the Alumni Association continue to grow?

The Alumni Association isn't like the brook that goes on forever. Its existence and success are dependent on the interest and support of graduates and former students. The University of Louisville alumnus who continues active support of his Alumni Association is rewarded by an unusual satisfaction. The joy of giving to that from which he has received, of continued and invigorating contact with his University, and of the knowledge that he is actively helping its proper growth and development, are all his. The only effective way to accomplish our plans is by a large and interested organization.

A cordial invitation is extended to the members of the 1930 graduating class, to affiliate themselves with us in our efforts. We need your support and enthusiasm, and we feel that we can be of real service to you.

BEARD'S MANUAL

(Being a modern improvement on the old Baird's Manual)

1. FRATERNITIES

Kappa Alpha ("Southern")

Kappa Alpha was founded at Washington and Lee University by a group of young men purporting to be Southerners. The truth appears to be that, although their families were Southern in their sympathies during the Civil War, they were, unfortunately, unable to strike a blow for liberty, inasmuch as they were in their homes in Poland, Lithuania, and Jugo-Slavia at the time.

However, hoping that the Yankees, at least, would take them for real Southerners, these young men called their club "Kappa Alpha, Southern," and initiated General Robert E. Lee, without his knowledge and much to his surprise and dismay.

Since that time, the fraternity has grown by leaps and bounds, especially since it follows the policy of placing chapters in high schools, night schools, and jails.

The Chapter Roll is as follows:

Alpha, Washington and Lee University
Beta, Virginia Military Institute (inactive)
Upsilon, Squeedunk High School
Xi Rho, Jefferson County Jail
Psi Chi, Louisville Male High School (inactive)
Epsilon, La Salle Correspondence School
Tau, Simmons University (inactive)
Beta Omicron, University of Louisville
Zeta Zeta, West Podunk Barbers College

The Beta chapter became inactive when the authorities of that school, judging all fraternities by K. A., prohibited them at the institution. The members of the Louisville Male High School chapter resigned and formed the Latin Club. Tau, at Simmons University, was withdrawn when after granting the charter, it was found that the college student body was composed entirely of Americans of African descent. Many other chapters are inactive for various reasons.

Sigma Chi Sigma

This "lodge" was founded at the University of Louisville in 1921. Having been founded by ten men who had only a very vague idea as to what a fraternity really was, it was at first called "The Secret X Society" but as somebody found out what the secret was, it was decided to change the name to Sigma Chi Sigma. The fraternity decided to petition some national for a charter, but when they found out that no national in the country would give them one, they adopted the policy of remaining a local, and pretended to take on a very haughty attitude, hoping to fool somebody into thinking that they were good. So far, nobody has been fooled, but the Sigma Chi Sigmas have not given up hope.

The "lodge" owns a house, valued at $7,500 (own valuation) but they won't own it long if they don't keep up their payments better than they have in the past.

In the old days, the Sigma Chi Sigmas were the big politicians of the campus, but having lost several elections, they decided to withdraw from politics and pretend that they were no longer interested. The members of this "lodge" have also withdrawn from almost every kind of campus activity for this reason (including studies) the idea being to hide their laziness and inability to get anything accomplished behind a "We can't be bothered Attitude" that doesn't fool anybody.

Prominent Members include: Julian De Pree, Debutantes' Delight and Professional Prettiboy; Dick Taylor, Professional Cynic and imitator of Schopenhauer and Hoffenstein; Laurence Howe (who in spite of his childishly innocent face has been at the bottom of a lot of crooked work that other people got the blame for); Bob Kinchloe, who went to Law School so he would only have to go to school two hours a day.

P. S. Oh, my Goodness! We almost forgot—Sigma Chi Sigma actually got a pledge this year. Think of it!

Delta Sigma

This organization claims to have been founded in 1919 — although we have our doubts about it. At any rate, they did not proclaim its existence to the general public until two years later — but inasmuch as they have not yet officially announced that they have charters from A. T. O., Kappa Sig, and S. A. E. (although they have allowed rumors to creep about, especially to people they want to pledge) this claim may have some foundation in fact. The Delta Sigs always were modest and retiring souls.

This society has always maintained the policy of offering membership to all men in the school who were not members of any fraternity, and so has grown in numbers beyond anything ever dreamed of. The male portion in the student body is divided into three groups: those who have turned down Delta Sig bids, members of Delta Sig, and those who have turned in their pins to Delta Sig.

This society is not a national (just yet) but they are expecting a charter from S. A. E. any day now, and judging from some of the places and people to whom S. A. E. has given charters, we are not sure but what their dreams will be fulfilled. When they are initiated, they plan to relieve the unemployment situation by going out and asking all the business men who are S. A. E's for jobs. (We hate to discourage them, but the only S. A. E. we ever knew who was in a position to give anybody a job thought the idea was a huge joke.) Anyway, the "fraternity" has gotten permission to petition (according to their own story) and just as soon as they are passed on by the Grand Whoozis, Eight Consecutive Conventions, the Vice-Grand Whoozis, and pay the Grand Chapter $4,000.37, they will be installed, thus raising the S. A. E. membership from two-thirds of the male population of the United States to three-fourths. If S. A. E. turns them down there are still three national fraternities in the country that they haven't tried yet, so they are not worried.

Prominent members include: Harry Gilmore, Sartorial Arbiter; Jan Bamberger, whose performance in the playhouse (and other places) caused much comment; Karl Johaneboeke, Big Rough He Man; and George Ragsdale, President of Delta Sigma.

Theta Nu Epsilon

Theta Nu Epsilon fraternity was founded at Wesleyan University in 1870 as a drinking and carousing fraternity. In 1925 the National Officers of this organization had a brain storm, and conceived a wild idea that they could reorganize into a social fraternity, with the result that instead of a good drinking fraternity, T. N. E. is now a mediocre social However, acting on this policy, they had a general housecleaning, and Theta Nu Epsilon repented of its sins, was washed in the Blood until whiter than snow, and received into the Congregation of the Righteous.

There are two groups at the University of Louisville purporting to be the Xi Xi chapter of Theta Nu Epsilon, and the Lord knows (we don't) which of the two is the real one. However, since the group in the Liberal Arts School is recognized by the Faculty (God Bless 'Em) and since they are the only real "bona fide" Theta Nu Epsilon (whatever that may mean), we suppose we must recognize them as the true chapter of T. N. E. (although we can't help wondering how they keep from getting themselves mixed up with the brothers down at the Medical School.)

Anyway, the National Officers came down and installed a bunch of boys on the campus as the Xi Xi chapter of T. N. E., and this group has always occupied a very prominent place on the campus. You can't miss the T. N. E's: any time you see a bunch of boys running around with green and red ties, purple suits, pink shirts, and yellow shoes, you may be sure they are the Teeny Weenies.

Prominent members include: (We are sorry, but since the mighty "Court House" Nufer quit school, we can't think of a single T. N. E. prominent enough to mention.)

Alpha Zeta

This organization was founded in 1929 at the University of Louisville, by a group of young men who were under the influence of intoxicating liquor (at least, that is the only way that we can account for the crazy looking coat-of-arms they adopted.) The first information the general public had of its existence was one day in the

Life's Partner

Galvani once said that "electricity is life." Certain it is that today it is man's greatest ally in almost everything he does.

From birth his comfort, happiness and progress are constantly being promoted by endless applications of the energy carried by this nerve force of modern life.

It builds his skyscrapers, lights his home, runs his machines, makes his clothes and afterwards washes and irons them, sweeps the floors of his home, makes his toast and coffee, milks the cow, pumps the water, cools the refrigerator, runs the fans, operates his transportation systems, bridges the ocean with his voice, and, in electrotherapeutics, actually becomes the giver or saver of life by making possible diagnoses, treatments and operations heretofore beyond the reach of science.

The dependable supply of electrical service which makes these modern conveniences possible has been developed under the American political and industrial principle of individual reward for individual merit.

fall of 1929, when a number of boys who were not members of any other fraternity or Delta Sig appeared on the campus wearing funny looking little green and white pledge pins, and telling everybody that they were Alpha Zetas. They soon moved into winter quarters above the Cardinal Inn, the apartment being the one vacated by the famous Kappa Alpha Order (Southern) when they moved into their palatial new home. We don't know whether the A. Z's were in hopes that somebody would mistake them for K. A's or not—but if so, we beg permission to say that it was a rotten idea.

Alpha Zeta is a local, but we understand they are seriously considering going national, and are only waiting for some good national like Deke or Psi U. to petition them. (Personally, we think it would be a good joke if they would get a charter from K. A. Northern.) This is all the information we can get on this group at the time of going to press, but we are anxiously waiting to see whether they will pretend to be good, and adopt an "attitude of unapproachable exclusiveness" (where did we hear that phrase before?) like the Sigma Chi Sigmas, or break down and take something like K. A. or T. N. E., or emulate the Delta Sigs and petition every fraternity in the country.

Nu Kappa Nu

This society was founded at the University of Louisville by a group of young men desirous of obtaining a charter from the famous Kappa Nu fraternity. Accordingly, they adopted as their chapter song "The Wearin' O' The Green," took Saint Patrick as their Patron Saint, and the Shamrock as their flower. It is an immemorial custom in the society that all members must wear green ties on Saint Patrick's Day, and if anyone does not comply with this rule, he is penalized ten yards.

Since they had decided to petition Kappa Nu, they called their fraternity Nu (New) Kappa Nu, which we think is a pretty putrid pun. The chapter rents a house, but its members never stay there — they are always found hanging around that favorite haunt of Mrs. Hill, Dr. Fowler, and Dean Brigman, which is known as the "Hole in the Wall" or the "Chesterfield Inn."

Prominent members are: Bucky Baron, Bucky Baron, Bucky Baron, Bucky Baron, Bucky Baron and Bucky Baron. (Oh, yes — we almost forgot — and Bucky Baron.)

2. SORORITIES

Pi Beta Phi

The origin of Pi Beta Phi is lost in the mists of antiquity. The commonly accepted story of the founding of this society is that it was organized by a group of magnificent young ladies of Greek descent (restaurant variety), who banded themselves together to form a "fraternity" on bigger and better lines.

While they were considering a name for their organization, a certain Shoe Manufacturer offered them $500 to call themselves the "I. C. Sorosis," in order to advertise his product. After the founding of the U. of L. chapter, he gave them $2,000 to change their name.

The "fraternity" picks its members from socially prominent families (with at least several notable exceptions). It tries to have its members pre-eminent on the campus, and those who have nothing else to recommend them have keen looking roadsters, and are required to wear fur coats. Since the untimely demise of the late lamented Local One Flight Up Group, this society is again the creme de la creme de la creme. Those of the pledges who have not had the advantage of a cultured atmosphere at home are carefully instructed not to put cream in their after dinner coffee; and, to accustom them to the idea of going in the front door, they are required to go in by the rear during pledgeship, and later told to enter the front way, as is the custom among the elite.

Prominent members include: Jo Warner, better known as "Three Hundred A Month" Warner; Margaret Bushnell and Elizabeth Howe (we never have quite known why they were famous, but they assure us that they are) also, the Hutcheson sisters, who speak for themselves; Elizabeth Borries, the Campus Sweetheart; and Dorothy De Pree is also a member, although she seems to prefer the society of the members of the defunct Local One Flight Up Group. There is also one prominent ex-pledge, who since going to another university, can hold her liquor better.

Sigma Kappa

This organization which is represented on the University of Louisville campus by a group of girls known as Alpha Theta chapter, must be a national, since it is supposed to have been founded at Colby College in 1874. Although the Constitution of this society provided for nationalization, it was not until 1904 that a local could be found which was untaught enough to petition Sigma Kappa. This local was so weak that when news of this was passed about, punk locals all over the country petitioned Sigma Kappa, thinking that if they would give that group a charter, they would give one to anybody.

A group of girls at the U. of L. put in their petition, and it was immediately acted upon by the National Officers, and they were installed as Alpha Theta. The Sigma Kappas, it is said, take great pride in the U. of L. chapter, it and the one at the University of California being the two prize chapters. If that is so, we would hate to see the others.

Last year, the chapter here bid all the girls in the freshman class, with the result that the pledges outnumbered the actives in a ratio of about four to one. This year, they did not pledge so many, but they didn't need to after last year.

Sigma Kappa is still keeping up its noble work among the lonely Lighthouse Keepers Daughters on the Maine Coast. They are also doing considerable philanthropic work in line in cheering up several lonely Sigma Chi Sigmas.

Prominent members are: Elizabeth Seay, famous Chemist; Woozy Wilson and Add Hardin; Mildred Potter, Poetess; and Harris Ruwe and Leslie Shively.

Kappa Delta

Kappa Delta was founded at the Virginia State School for Sub-Normal Girls in 1897, one year before the Spanish American War. As soon as the Spaniards heard of this, they blew up the battleship Maine (who can blame them?), and declared war on the United States.

This sorority has quite a large chapter roll (we almost said surprisingly large) and the U. of L. chapter also (following the custom of the national) and of Delta Sigs, their boy-friends (we're sorry, it's a K. D. word, not ours), also have a large chapter roll.

The local chapter at U. of L. was formed from a local called Theta Pi, and (though you wouldn't think so judging by the chapter now) it used to be a pretty good local. The moment it took K. D., however, it began to degenerate, until it reached the sad condition in which it is found today.

The K. D. house is situated on Shipp Street — you can't miss it; all you have to do is to walk down the street until you see a rickety little frame house with a big convention of boys (Delta Sigma variety) in the front yard, and then, as the old song says, that's the K. D. house, as sure as you're born.

There is a very persistent rumor afoot that the letters K. D. stand for Kinda Dumb, in memory of the sororities origin at the School for Sub-Normal Girls; however, this rumor has never been authenticated.

Chi Omega

Chi Omega was founded in 1895 at (that's right) the University of Arkansas. (Will the Senator from Arkansaw, please come to order?) A fellow who was a member of Kappa Sigma assisted the founders in planning the organization, but the Kappa Sigs have repudiated him since, and refuse to take any responsibility for any of the doings of the Chi O's. The society, like some others, sees fit to call itself the Chi Omega fraternity; but it is better known as the "X Horse-Shoe Sorority."

The local chapter, not being very proud, is quite friendly with the Sigma Chi Sigmas and like them, pretends to be very exclusive, (but we wonder whether they are small in size from choice or from necessity.)

The chapter's one claim to fame is the possession of a grand piano, but nobody in the sorority can play it.

The Chi O Ritual is supposed to take all day, but we can't understand why it takes them so long to explain what an X and a Horse-Shoe mean. But maybe they have also to explain to the girls about "Hellenic Culture and Christian Ideals." (We have our doubts about their culture and ideals, and as to their Christianity—well,—). And now gather round, gentle readers, we have a good one for you on the Chi Omegas. Guess what! Mabel Willebrandt is a Chi O! Yes, she is, too. (Time out while we all have a good guffaw). But don't tell anybody, or it will hurt the Chi O's pledging. Other prominent members are: Jean Hoagland, Editor of the 1930 Thoroughbred; Estelle Ogle; and Mrs. Middleton, who was also a member of the now defunct Local One Flight Up Group, of happy memory.

Zeta Tau Alpha

When Kappa Delta was founded at the Virginia State School for Sub-Normal Girls there were a number of girls who were too subnormal to be included even in this group. Accordingly, these girls banded together and in 1898, the next year after K. D. was founded-these girls formed a sorority which they called Zeta Tau Alpha.

For a while, the sorority was known as the Three Question Mark Sorority (???), but this was not because the founders were of questionable character, but because there was a question in the minds of many people as to whether there was any excuse for the sorority. The U. of L. chapter was founded from a local called Zeta Delta Pi, which finally broke down and took a charter from Z. T. A. in 1927. Zeta Tau Alpha's open motto is "Seek the Noblest," but the Noblest, (as regards the U. of L. chapter, at least, is usually some T. N. E., and if that's the Zeta's idea of nobility, well—.)

The most prominent member of the local chapter is undoubtedly Sarah Fisher, who has something to do with the U. of L. News. We are not sure, but we think she is the mysterious "Themis," that the Zetas talk about.

Delta Zeta

Delta Zeta was founded at Miami University in 1902, although nobody knows exactly why. The President of the school is supposed to have helped them — that was nice of him — the D. Z's certainly need help from somebody.

The girls adopted as their pin a golden lamp, symbolic of the fact that their members were usually lit up. There is a very persistent rumor that the Greek letters Delta Zeta stand for the English letters D. Z., which means "Dizzy"; but although the dizzy way in which some of the members of this sorority act would lead one to give the rumor some credence, it has never been substantiated.

The U. of L. chapter was founded when one of the Delta Zeta National Officers found out some of the low-down on the members of the local Phi Sigma Theta sorority, and told them that they had their choice between petitioning Delta Zeta and having the authorities told on them. After a great deal of consideration, the girls finally chose the first of the two alternatives, and in 1928, were installed as a chapter of Delta Zeta.

Since that time, the girls have made the best of things and are functioning quite well, all things being considered

Epsilon Omega

Epsilon Omega was founded at the University of Louisvile in 1921 by a group of "good students." Before that time, the authorities did not permit sororities, but when these good little girls asked to be allowed to organize one, they just did not have the heart to refuse them; and after that they could not conscientiously keep others from organizing.

Epsilon Omega is the oldest local on the campus, and it will probably continue to be for some time.

As has been said, the original Eppies were great students, but times have changed. They do their best, however, we suppose.

Psi Delta

When the Eppies ceased to be potential Phi Beta Kappas, a group of studious girls at the U. of L. got together and formed a sorority called Psi Delta. This sorority has all the rest backed off the boards when it comes to scholarship, but that is not surprising, considering that that is about all the Psi Delts do.

We should think that the Psi Delts would be the pride and joy of Mrs. Hill's heart, since they never give dances for her to come around and close at twelve o'clock.
